STATE BUYS WATER BONDS

WILL TAKE THE ENTIRE ISSUE

Negotiations of Senator Hewitt Result in Bid Being Submitted Last Evening

Sierra Madre's water bonds are to be bought by the state of California. That will be cheering information to those citizens who have been inclined to worry lest the municipal ownership enterprise should fail because of the state of the bond market. It will perhaps be disappointing to some who have cherished secret or open hopes that the enterprise might in some manner be blocked.

The bid for the bonds was opened at last night's session of the city trustees. It comes from the state board of control and offers to take the bonds at par and accrued interest. The $60,000 issue for the purchase of the Baldwin holdings will be taken up at once and the remaining $111,000 a little later when more funds become available for the board of control.

Credit for this happy solution of the bond difficulty belongs to Senator Leslie R. Hewitt who has acted as counsel for the city in the water proceedings. Being in close touch with the chairman of the board of control, he laid the situation before that body and secured their promise to take up the bonds, certain funds being at their disposal for investment in such securities.

When the bonds were advertised for sale to the highest bidder and no proposals were received it became apparent that the bonds would have to be disposed of by the trustees by direct negotiations with some buyer. The sale of the bonds to the state makes the whole transaction a matter of public record on both sides, removing all possible grounds for criticism which might attend a private sale to a firm or individual.

THIS YEAR'S SPECIAL

Many inquiries have been received as to whether or not a special edition of the News would be issued this spring. It is the intention of the publisher to issue next fall an edition somewhat similar to the flower festival supplement of last year. None will be printed this spring. It was thought inadvisable to get out a flower festival edition for two reasons. In the first place the flower festival supplement outgrew its original conception of advertising the flower festival. So far as the festival was concerned it was a mere souvenir of the occasion. But it filled a distinct sphere in the work of advertising the community which could not be filled by any other means, so that in the opinion of those best qualified to judge there should be no thought of giving up the idea of a special illustrated edition of the News. However, it was found last year that in a sense the festival supplement became a competitor of the festival itself, inasmuch as many of the advertisers were also called upon to contribute to the festival fund. They felt that with both items of expense coming at the same time they could do justice to neither. Consequently it was determined that the special edition should be worked out as an independent enterprise. The logical time for getting out new advertising literature is the fall at the beginning of the tourist season. Hence the determination to postpone till that time the publication of a special edition which will be fully up to the remarkable standard set a year ago.

CONGREGATIONAL SERVICES

Next Sunday morning, Miss Mary H. Porter, who has been for many years engaged in teaching in Pekin, China, will speak of her work and her knowledge of conditions in that rapidly awakening country.

No special offering will be asked for at this time, and all are cordially invited to hear the message from this newest republic.

In the evening the pastor will speak on "Competition for Character."

Camp Season Opens Soon

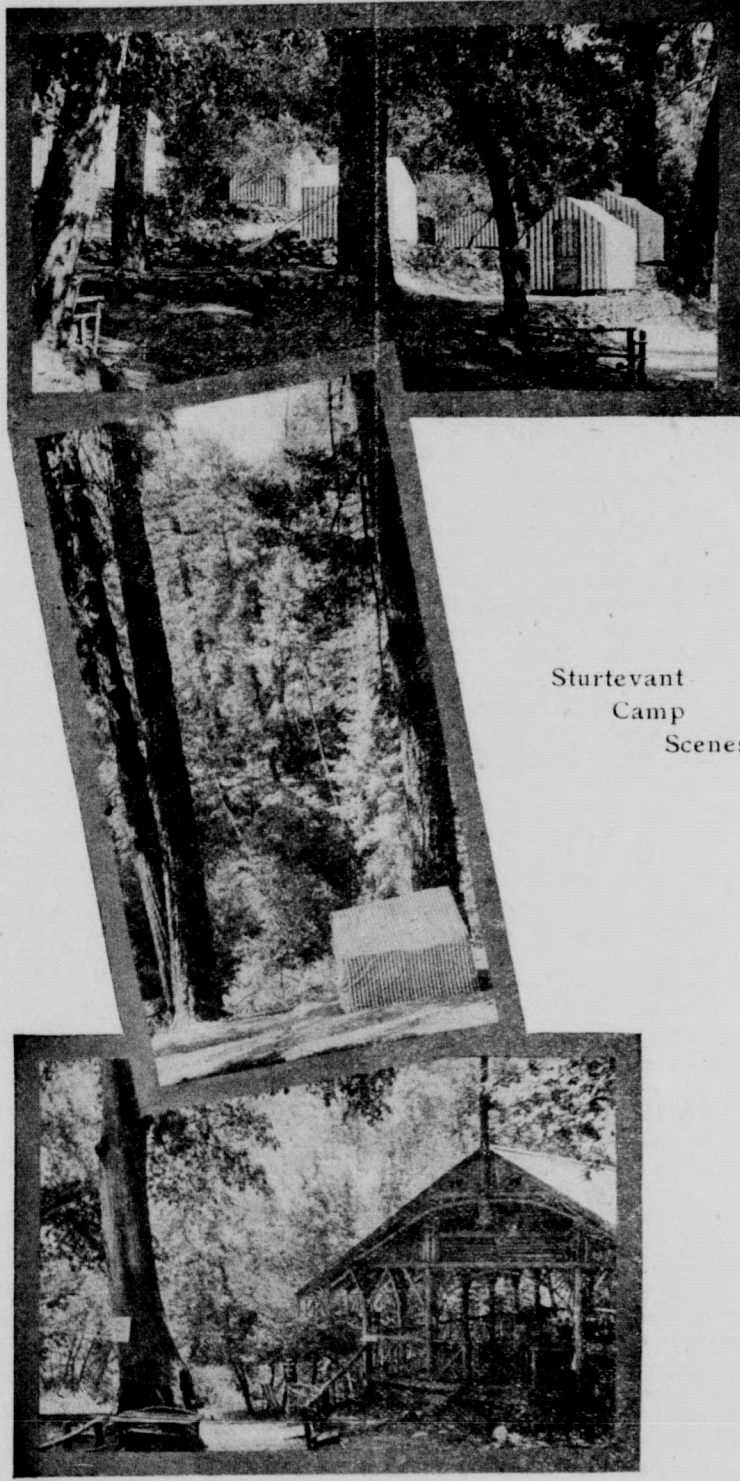

Within a very short time the annual trekking of the campers through Sierra Madre to the camping grounds of the mountains will be in full swing. May 1 is considered the usual date for opening the summer camps and a big season is expected this year, owing to the early beginning of warm weather.

Sturtevant's Camp now claims the entire attention of J. M. Beard. Last year he worked a great transformation in the camp and still further improvements are contemplated. The shortening of the Sturtevant trail last season made the camp more accessible, besides making the trip up the Big Santa Anita much more pleasant. Last season the patronage at Sturtevant's was the best in the camp's history up to the time of the fire scare in September.

With continued improvement in equipment and service still further growth is assured. Mr. Beard is now publishing a large edition of advertising folders which will be widely distributed.

Orchard Camp, the "half-way" on the Mt. Wilson trail, is now under the management of Foster W. Huston who is making a bid for a share of the summer campers. He has effected some improvements and is now getting out advertising folders.

Strain's Camp on Mt. Wilson is expected to do an unprecedented business this season. The burning of the hotel building will not affect business in any way, except to make the peak a busier place than ever with the force of laborers at work on the new building.

EPISCOPAL SERVICES

Church of the Ascension, the Rev. Dr. George H. Cornell, rector. Fifth Sunday after Easter. Vested choir. Sunday school, 9:45 a. m. Morning prayer and sermon, 11 a. m.; subject of sermon, "The Home." All are cordially invited.

The annual meeting of the parish of the Church of the Ascension will take place in the church Tuesday, April 29. At this meeting the annual reports of all the officers will be presented and a vestry elected for the ensuing year. A full attendance is desired.

On Thursday, May 1, Ascension Day, there will be services in the church at 10 a. m. At this service the Rt. Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, D. D., will administer the rite of confirmation, preach the sermon and celebrate the Holy Communion. The visitation of the bishop is an occasion of great interest and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

NEW CITIES EVERYWHERE

Within a very few years cars running between Sierra Madre and Los Angeles will pass through incorporated territory all the way, judging by the rate at which new cities are organized and territory annexed to those existing. The latest to join the ranks of cities of the sixth class, the San Gabriel and San Marino. Both were incorporated to forestall annexation programs projected in Alhambra. It is only a question of time till Lamanda Park will be incorporated or annexed to Pasadena. Residents of the foothill bench from Sierra Madre Villa to the east city limits of Sierra Madre should begin to make up their minds as to what is the most desirable future for that district. Common interests seem to indicate that a single corporate district would be most desirable, rather than to have any part under the control of some remote city hall crowd with nearer interests of such magnitude that the outlying districts would receive scant consideration. In the course of time city and county consolidation in some form will also be effected. Local self government will be the salvation of the outlying centers of population. Those cities which are incorporated when the issue is raised will be best able to fight for their rights. And, you may depend on it, a fight will be necessary to prevent the gobbling up of the country districts for assimilation at the convenience of the county seat politicians.

HOME OF TRUTH

"Spiritual Understanding or Realization" is the subject of the discourse to be given next Sunday at 3:30, at the Home of Truth, 493 Auburn avenue. Services conducted by Harriet C. Hamor. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Sunday school at 2 o'clock.

TRAIL RECORD APT TO FALL

MT. WILSON RACE WEDNESDAY

Entry List Indicates That Fast Time Will be Made in Annual Mountain Climb

Entries so far received for the sixth annual Sierra Madre-Mt. Wilson race indicate that the record established last year by Paul Westerlund is likely to fall next Wednesday. During the week the names of Philip Zeyouma and Albert Ray, the Sherman Institute Indians, have been added to the list and at least one other Indian runner will try for the record. The feat of the Sherman Institute men in running away with the first six places in the Times marathon shows that the white men will have to exert themselves to make any kind of a showing.

Of the men who have competed in past races Floyd Cooper and Guido Calligaro have been taking a lively interest in this year's event and training for some time on the trail. Norman, formerly of Seattle but now representing Company A of Los Angeles, is expected to be a contender as he has made a good showing in the races where he has started in Los Angeles. Raugh Fisher has also been showing up well. As the entries have usually come in late it is expected a number of others will be received by the end of the week. It has always been the theory of C. J. Fox that a large number of entries is not so necessary as in an ordinary long distance race, so long as the runners are of proper class. A field of a dozen good runners is as many as can be sent away at one time and furnishes as much excitement as twice as many.

Race Officials

Officials for the event will be chiefly sport writers on the Los Angeles papers, including Tate of the Tribune, Berger of the Herald, Lientz of the Express, Frayne of the Record, and Waddell of the Times. In addition Bob Weaver of the A. A. U., J. Raymond Hunt of the Spalding store, and J. A. Patterson, and C. J. Fox will act.

The race will be started from the business section of Sierra Madre as was done last year. The runners will be sent away about eight-thirty o'clock. For the purpose of comparison of the time with previous races the previous records are given here:

1908 Joseph B. King.....	1:25:30
1909 Ed Wietrich	1:29:30
1910 Adolphus Gregg	1:25:56
1911 Landa C. Farley	1:29:32
1912 Paul Westerlund (74-5 mi.)	1:21:56

(Previous races started from foot of trail making course only 7.1-10 miles.)

New Books at the Library

Patrons of the Public Library have had their hands full during the last few months trying to keep up with the good things which were brought out by the book committee for their benefit. To this fact may be attributed in part the steady increase in patronage as shown both by the growing list of cardholders and the greater number of books and periodicals circulated from month to month.

Increased shelf room has been made necessary to provide for the growing book list. Two new stacks have been built which, by rearranging those already in use, increase the shelf room about one-third.

Among the new books are titles in almost every department—fiction, poetry, history, travel, economics, science and mechanics, for adult and juvenile readers. Herewith is printed a partial list from the accession book. In addition to these there are as many or more works of fiction, including the latest and most popular novels. WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

The success of the Flower Show as a festival, and the large number of out of town visitors attracted to Sierra Madre, as well as the excellent financial showing, have been so gratifying to club members and their friends that expressions of satisfaction are heard on every side. The remarkable capacity for effective team work which has developed from the labors of past years was largely responsible for the results achieved by the club members in the departments allotted to them.

The regular meeting of the club next Monday will be preceded by a board meeting at one o'clock sharp. The program is one of unusual interest. Mrs. Hutton, district chairman of Music, presenting her delightful lecture, "The Orchestra," illustrated by Victor.

The state convention to be held at Fresno beginning next Thursday, promises more than the usual interest and entertainment, one special attraction being a trip into Yosemite Valley, and into the Redwood Forests. This club is entitled to six representatives and the following have been appointed: Mrs. F. C. Wright, Mrs. A. J. Rust, Mrs. B. W. Andrews, Mrs. A. S. Moore.

The nominating committee for the conduct of the annual election is as follows: Mrs. C. L. Nourse, chairman; Mrs. W. S. Andrews, and Mrs. C. C. Montgomery.

NATION WIDE INTEREST IN FORESTRY

In addition to the educational work carried on by the U. S. Forest Service—which work covers every phase of forest practice, protection, production, preservation, and proper utilization—the principles of forestry are being taught in many of our leading institutions of higher education. In 23 of the greater colleges and universities in the United States are courses leading to a degree of Bachelor of Science in Forestry or Master of Forestry; and 34 schools have short courses in Forestry—which gives excellent provision for the professional training of foresters and rangers in our country.

And among the many local organizations which have been formed in the interest of Forestry throughout the United States there are 27 national, state and local forestry, conservation, timber protective and allied associations; seven mountain climbing clubs and eight geographical societies which take active interest in this work; while 29 states make annual appropriations ranging from $500, in Alabama (for publications only), to $321,750 in Pennsylvania for such items as fire protection, purchase of lands, and administration and protection of State forest reserves and Forest Academy.

Festival the Best Ever Held

It is calculated by Treasurer Dietz of the Flower Festival committee that 200 persons attended the show during the three days it was open. He estimates that nearly 1000 of this number were non-residents. Coupling these figures with the expressions of delight offered by enthusiastic visitors over the show and the views afforded by the sight seeing auto trip, it is possible to get an inkling of the amount of good accomplished.

That the festival of last week was by all odds the most successful of the series was the unanimous verdict of those who had seen them all. Of course it is natural that the experience of each succeeding festival should give a better foundation on which to build.

That the financial returns should be so large in spite of unfavorable weather conditions during the first two days was particularly gratifying. The net profits of more than $1100 will be turned over the Woman's Club and will be devoted entirely to reducing the mortgage on the club house.

Credit for the success of the event would have to be divided up into a very large number of parcels if each deserving person were to be enumerated. It would be obviously impossible to name the committee chairmen and all their assistants and many others who worked without any official connection with the event. But even after passing the credit around so generally, by unanimous consent a very great measure must be bestowed upon the chairman, Mrs. Lawless, for her remarkable ability as an organizer and as an executive, and upon the treasurer, Mr. Dietz, who worked early and late for weeks, giving his attention to details in connection with almost every department.

The Brahms Trio

The criticism so often heard to the effect that Sierra Madre will not patronize good musical events was refuted by the appreciative crowd which turned out to hear the Brahms Trio last Friday evening. It was the largest crowd which ever attended a musical event in Sierra Madre and they were abundantly rewarded. Messrs. Selling, Simonsen and Grunn have perfected this form of music to a remarkable degree, and that the excellence of their work was instantly recognized by the audience speaks well for the latter in view of the classical character of the program.

Herr Selling was accorded something of an ovation upon his first appearance before an audience of his home town in five years. The brilliance of his violin playing in no wise disappointed those who knew his reputation but had not heard him play. He exhibited a marvellous mastery of technique, playing the most difficult compositions almost faultlessly. The wonderfully smooth mellow tones produced by Mr. Simonsen on the cello were beautiful beyond description and the applause accorded him was second only to that of the violin numbers. There was one disappointment to the audience, that being the lack of a solo number by the pianist, Mr. Humer Grunn. The delicacy of his touch and the perfection of his technique were a source of wonder and delight. One could hardly over-estimate the importance of his work as a factor in the success of the entire program.

School Program Pleasing

Probably no single feature of the festival program afforded more real joy than the program of music and folk dances given by the children of the public school on Saturday afternoon. The club house was packed to the doors and the enthusiasm of the audience knew no bounds. The piano accompaniments by Miss Dorothy Mitchell were exceedingly well done and Principal Maltbie and his assistants of the school faculty deserve a vast amount of credit for their effective drilling of the children.

The music furnished during the afternoon on Friday by Messrs. Stamm, Parmegiani and Miene on the violin, clarinet and piano was greatly appreciated. It was declared by many to be the most satisfactory music for such an occasion ever heard at the club house.

Saturday night's cotillion furnished the usual pleasing close to the festival program. The auditorium floor was crowded by the dancers and the cotillion figures were watched by a large crowd of spectators.

The cut flowers which were sufficiently fresh to be handled were given out after the festival for distribution among the sick of Sierra Madre and many were sent to the hospitals of Los Angeles.

THE DIARY OF DEATH.

By ADRIENNE CODY, aged sixteen, of Central park school, Topeka.

I am a fly. I'm not very old and am just learning where to find the best things to eat. My favorite places are in the spittoon in the sitting room and the uncovered garbage can on the back porch. Of course some flies would be bothered about having to go out of doors to get to that can. But it doesn't worry me. In the house where I live there aren't any screens, so I can fly from the garbage can to the spittoon in perfect safety. I often stop on the way, though, to get in the sugar bowl or crawl over any eatables that are handy.

There's a baby in this house who an-noys me very much. Every time I leave the spittoon and crawl into that baby's mouth it cries and spits me out.
Of course I leave a few tuberculosis germs in its mouth, but it doesn't seem like that would hurt the baby.

It seems to me like people don't know what is good to eat. At least the people in this house don't. Why, they throw away all the good things. They put them in the garbage pail. I am endeavoring to show them what good things are, however, for I get my feet all sticky in the garbage can and then go and wipe them on the bread. About a hundred of my companions are doing the same thing. I really believe that the people are beginning to like it, for they never trouble us any more.
We wipe our feet on the bread in peace and quiet.

I heard the woman across the way say that she believed flies had something to do with the man in this house having consumption. I wonder if he got it from the bread.

The woman across the way is losing all her flies. They're all coming over to our house. She won't give them anything to eat. She covers up her garbage pail, has tight screens on all her doors and is a terror to flies in general. Her children are such happy, hearty youngsters, while the children in this house are always cross. They never get any afternoon nap. The flies won't let them.

There's a very great deal of illness in this house. Two of the boys have amnesia and the father is never well.
I heard the mother say to the woman across the way: "I really do not know what to do for all this sickness. It drives me distracted." What do you think that woman said? Why, "Swat the fly," of course, at which I ducked.
Oh, yes! The baby has the typhoid.

THE POISONER.

A human fiend who would enter our stores and markets by night and, after gorging himself, leave poison in all the remaining food, to spread suffering, disease and death throughout the community, would be executed, pursued and torn to pieces by an outraged populace. Yet a useless insect, playing this role to perfection, is living among us constantly and is regarded merely as a mild source of annoyance, often as a subject of jest.

SAPOTE IS NOTABLE

MANY VISITORS COME TO SIERRA MADRE TO SEE FINE SPECIMENS OF RARE VARIETY

Near the corner of P. Edwin and Carter avenues is a tree which many Sierra Madre people have seen without giving it particular attention. A few were aware that it bore fruit of a peculiar appearance and flavor which some found delicious and for which others would find it necessary to cultivate a taste. To call it a Sapote would mean nothing to most of them. Yet the tree has attracted so much attention among growers of rare fruits that it seems destined to become more famous than some of the avocado trees which have been given a great deal of publicity in recent years. The tree stands on the vacant lot just north of the residence of Mrs. L. M. Rice to whom it belongs. The following description of it was written by Miss Jessie Ward for one of the horticultural reviews:

Strikingly outlined against the gray of the mountains and only a short distance from the foot of the Mt. Wilson trail in Sierra Madre, stands a tree the peer of its species in California. The casual observer would see nothing of interest in it, save perhaps its rare beauty; by others it is passed unnoticed, but botanists and tropical fruit enthusiasts come to see it from all parts of the Southland, and cannot say enough in praise of its virtues.

The tree was planted in its present location over twenty years ago by J. C. Harvey, then of Los Angeles but now of Vera Cruz, Mexico, and has come to be known as the Harvey White Sapote, and will in all probability always be known by that name. No doubt it had care and water in its infancy, but as the land changed hands from time to time it was sadly neglected, yet thrived in spite of adverse conditions.

No one seems to know just how long it has been bearing, but judging by other sapote trees that have borne in their sixth or seventh year, it has probably been bearing for fifteen years.

The present owner was not aware of the value of the tree, neither did the sellers attach any particular value to it. But the increasing demand for the rare fruit indicates that a large income may be derived from it. The finest fruit brings from 30 to 60 cents each.

Last year, it is estimated, the tree bore over a thousand fruit, varying in size and time of ripening; the first ripening the latter part of August and lasting until Christmas. It varies in size from that of a plum to a good-sized quince, and in shape resembles very much the latter, its color being green with a dull yellow cheek. It is considered by some to be the most delicious fruit on the market, and cannot be compared with any other fruit, its flavor being essentially its own. People who have eaten it describe it as melting and pencil-like in flavor. The skin is thin and the pulp very soft when ripe. It can be picked when hard and shipped in that condition as it ripens off the tree as well as on, and is quite as delicious. The size of the tree and the shape of the leaves are similar to the English walnut; the sapote, however, is rather weeping in habit. Those who were fortunate enough to obtain seeds are successfully growing trees, some of which will be added.

F. H. Popenoe of Altadena, who has written a treatise on the sapote in general, says that so far as he has seen, "the Harvey Sapote" is our largest and most highly-colored variety, with the proportion of the seed considered.

indicate that the growing of the sapote on a large scale in Southern California is more than a possibility. "Favorable soil and climate with the promise of splendid returns, also the fact that the planting of acreage to this fruit is being considered, would probably less than in most varieties."

Economy Hints

A penny saved is a penny earned.—Benjamin Franklin.

If you are a woman of moderate means and feel a bit discouraged when you find your furniture and draperies a bit shabby be cheered by the knowledge that chintz is enjoying an extraordinary vogue. If you cannot afford to recover chairs and sofas with the lovely brocatelles and the rich velours, then turn to the chintzes, which invite you to try an excursion in economy that should bring joy to every member of your family—unless you are not wise in selecting colors and patterns. Before making any purchase or even examining materials it is well to learn something about the various weaves.

Many of them are copies of designs that are famous since they are associated with periods in history memorable for artistic achievement. Reproductions of the old English block prints are interesting, but not always practical or beautiful. With their flamboyant birds and garish flowers of abnormal size they cause the shopper to wonder who will buy them, but in their right places they are quite acceptable. Combinations of blues and reds, lavenders and blacks also raise a question of their possible usefulness, but they are displayed so confidently that it does not require a prophet to predict that many a crime against good taste in interior decoration will be committed in the name of chintz.

Among the most alluring patterns are the copies of period designs, especially those that were common in the days of Louis XIV. and the first empire. Some of these are expensive, and it is the price that will cause perplexity when the adventurer in economy seeks material with which to transform the dingy room that must be done over before the spring rush of housecleaning.

After admiring the costly cotton fabrics the housewife may find exactly what she wants at a reasonable figure. The domestic chintzes vary from 25 cents a yard to $1.25 or even more, but it is possible to obtain something quite satisfactory for less than 50 cents.

It is always economical to obtain the greatest degree of comfort for the least possible outlay, and when it comes to making old furniture masquerade as new the old chairs that are favorites have a chance to remain in their accustomed places. With new chintz covers they will be doubly welcome to all, and the first care should be to choose colors that will not soil too easily, but that does not mean that beauty should be sacrificed or that anything like cold or dull hues need be selected. With the thought of pleasing the men as well as the women of the family due consideration should be given to the value of contrast and to the proper mixing of the dark pieces of furniture so that the room will not have a mottled or piebald appearance, so easy for it to acquire when chintzes are used.

How to Use Cold Cream Jars. These jars are well worth saving, washing thoroughly and putting aside for many incidental uses. As a receptacle for nails, screws, tacks, etc., they often find favor with the man of the house. In the sewing room they are excellent for keeping clean and dry small quantities of whole cloves or peppercorns. These jars are also invaluable where an individual luncheon is to be carried. Wine jelly can be carried in them or small portions of prunes or other stewed fruits. The screw covers that many of them have make them practically leakage proof.

How to Fluff the Hair. Hair in the dog days is tryingly flat and stringy. It can be fluffed and made to stand out well from the head even without curling by brushing it with an outward twist of the wrist that lifts the hair up from the scalp. For this brushing divide the hair into strands and go over the head in a circle; then begin farther up and continue until all the hair has been lifted and lightened.

If this style of brushing is kept up daily or even several times a week the straightest and stringiest hair soon becomes dry and easy to puff out from the face.

How to Serve Chops. Enhance the attractiveness of mutton chops and the mashed potatoes that usually accompany them by forming the potatoes into a mound and arranging the chops like a crown around them. Decorate with watercress or mint or, if neither can be obtained, with parsley. The dish will be even more attractive if the mound of potatoes is brushed with butter before adding the chops and the platter containing it put into the oven to give the mound a fine brown.

How to Make Good Roof. To cover any wooden roof, such as dog kennels, summer houses, etc., get a large piece of strong brown paper and tack it down. Make sure there are no holes in it for the wet to get under. Then give it two coats of paint. This will last several years and is at most as good as tarpaulin and much cheaper.

HOW TO BRIGHTEN THE EASTER MENU.

Select as many eggs as you need, cover with cold water and cook until hard boiled. Remove shells and while hot press into apple shapes. Mix a bit of fruit red with a little cold water and brush over the surface of the eggs. To represent the blossom end insert a clove, and the stem leaves may be simulated with hothouse lilac leaves. Serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise dressing to which have been added some finely chopped olives and pickles.

Bake six medium sized potatoes which have been well washed. When done take from oven and cut a thin slice from each. Scoop out the inside and force through the ricer. Season with two tablespoonfuls of butter, twelve anchovies cut in small pieces, one-eighth teaspoonful of nutmeg and two-thirds of a cup of hot milk. Add pepper and salt seasoning, put back in the shells, dot with butter and brown in moderate oven.

RENOVATING HATS.

How to Bring Your Last Season's Chapeau Up to Date.

Last year's hat may do service, at least for such homely excursions as those to the grocer or baker, and if it is renovated with care and taste it can be made to fit in with the spring season. To begin with, if the hat needs renovating, remove all the old trimming. Clean the hat. If it is white use salts of lemon. If it is colored brush it thoroughly and then clean it with a cloth moistened in water or olive oil. A black hat can be recolored with good liquid shoe blacking. Other colored hats can be treated to dye, made of gasoline colored with oil paint, applied with a short, stiff bristled brush.

When an old wing is to be used and it has lost its original shape or a new shape is wished make a wire loop of strong, round milliner's wire and fasten it securely with twist the color of the feather on the under side of the wing. Sew the bottom of the wing and the stem of the loop so that there will be no possibility of coming apart. Fasten the upper part of the wing to the wire as neatly as possible so that the stitches do not show on the right side of the feathers. The wing can then be bent to any shape wanted. An ostrich feather can be shaped to answer this year's requirements if a piece of fine, strong wire is buttonholed to the quill on the under side with silk thread matching the feather. Cut the wire off several inches from the tip of the feather, as this should fall softly and naturally. Sew the wire firmly at the bottom of the quill, fasten securely to the hat and the feather will stay in position. Old flowers can be freshened greatly if each petal and leaf is straightened and pressed in shape. They can be cleaned with gasoline and after they are dry tinted with water color paints.

NEW HOT BREADS.

How to Make Breakfast Corn Loaf and Biscuits.

The test which every breakfast bread must meet when it reaches the table concerns its delicacy of taste and texture. The test which it must answer if it is to be a favorite with the cook concerns the time required to make it. Following are some recipes which meet both tests. They are of delicious taste, of light, firm grain and can be quickly made.

Any breakfast bread should cool slightly on a cloth before it is put on a plate to be sent to the table, so that it will not cause the plate to become moist and itself become soggy.

Corn bread is an agreeable change from corn muffins. To make it beat two eggs together, add a tablespoonful of melted lard, two cupfuls of milk and two cupfuls of corn meal sifted with one cupful of white flour, one tablespoonful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a teaspoonful of salt. Beat hard and bake in a round tin with a hole in the center. Cool a little before slicing.

Wheat puffs, known also as popovers and robbers' caves, are especially tempting on a sultry, heavy morning. Make them by adding two unbeaten eggs and two cupfuls of milk to two cupfuls of flour. Beat all thoroughly with an egg beater. Drop in greased tins or earthenware cups. Eat as soon as they are done.

The News liner column is growing. Pretty good proof that it pays those who use it.

ANOTHER PIERCE TROLLEY TRIP

Charles M. Pierce, popularly known as the "Father of the Balloon Route," has completed arrangements with the Pacific Electric Company to operate a fourth trolley trip out of Los Angeles, to the scenic and historical points in the San Fernando Valley, northwest of this city. The new excursion will be known as Pierce's San Fernando Valley Excursion.

Leaving the Hill Street Station of the Pacific Electric at 10 a. m. daily, passing through Colegrove and Hollywood, passing through the Cahuenga Pass into the San Fernando Valley, viewing Lankershim and Van Nuys, over the new electric line to the Old San Fernando Mission.

In connection with this excursion, Mr. Pierce has purchased a 60-passenger automobile which will convey the excursion parties over the new scenic highway, from the Old San Fernando Mission to the Owens River Reservoir. From this point, the opening of the aqueduct is plainly visible.

Returning to the Mission, the excursion follows the half million dollar boulevard to Owensmouth. At this point of the Pacific Electric, Mr. Pierce has constructed a novel cafe, where the same chicken dinners that made Pierce famous in the early days of Hollywood will be served. On the return trip the excursion will stop at Van Nuys, where Mr. Pierce has erected a camera obscura, which is free to the excursionists.

"Many people will be interested to know that I am going to set aside one-half of all the net profits from my excursion and dining-room at Owensmouth, to help feed, clothe and educate the helpless children of Los Angeles," said Mr. Pierce in describing the new trip. The entire first day of the excursion was set aside for the benefit of orphan children. Nearly three hundred of the little tots were taken over the entire trip. At San Fernando they were served with coffee, lemonade, oranges and lots of other good things by several women. They were also given an opportunity to pick all the poppies they could carry home.

LAUGH AND BE MERRY.

LAUGH and be merry. Remember better the world with a song, Better the world with a blow in the teeth of a wrong. Laugh, for the time is brief, A thread the length of a span. Laugh and be proud to belong to the old proud pageant of man.

Laugh and be merry. Remember in olden time God made heaven and earth for joy he took in a time. Made them and filled them full with the strong red wine of his mirth. The splendid joy of the stars, the joy of the earth.

So we must laugh and drink from the deep blue cup of the sky. Join the jubilant song of the great stars sweeping by. Laugh and battle and work and drink of the wine outpoured In the dear green earth, the sign of the joy of the Lord.

Laugh and be merry together, like brothers akin. Guesting awhile in the rooms of a beautiful inn. Glad till the dancing stops and the lit of the music ends.

Laugh till the game is played, and be you merry, my friends. —John Masfield

SOMETHING TO HOPE FOR.

HAVE something to hope for. You may be poor. You may be weary and obscure. You may be old or blind or lame. Chance may have robbed you of your rights. You may not ever proudly claim A place upon the gleaming heights. But you may have such joy as springs Within the breast of him who thrives, The pride that fair achievement brings, If hope within your heart survives.

HAVE something to hope for. You may be old. A gleaming crown of gems and gold. You may have dreamed of glory which The future has reserved for you. In pleasing fancy, proud and rich. You may be of the splendid few. Send forth a ship, select a goal, Set out a shrub or plant a seed. Keep some fair purpose in your soul. Let hope have food on which to feed— Have something to hope for. —S. E. Kiser.

Dark are his eyes as the night, and black is his hair as the midnight. Large and slow is his tread till he sees his master returning; Then how he leaps in the air, with motion ponderous, frightening! Now as I pass to my work I hear o'er the roof of the city—

Far over the roofs of the houses I hear the barking of Leo. —Richard Watson Gilder.

REPORT OF FESTIVAL COMMITTEE

In submitting its report the Flower Show Committee desires to express its thanks and appreciation for the assistance and support received from the Sierra Madre public, which made possible the success of the festival, and to draw attention to the fact that the Spring Festival has grown to proportions that indicate the necessity and desirability of its continuance as an annual feature. The complimentary notices bestowed upon the city by the press of Southern California, and the pleasant notoriety achieved by the display of flowers and hospitality are of course gratifying to all residents of Sierra Madre.

Much of the artistic effect of the show is due to the attractiveness of the club building, but that it is entirely inadequate for the proper handling of the crowds of visitors was demonstrated, and the question of enlarging the Eastern section of the building should be considered. The provisions for entering and leaving the tent should be doubled, to eliminate the delays experienced by visitors this time.

It would seem timely to suggest that the next Flower Show committee should have a much greater measure of assistance particularly from the men of the city, so that many of the problems of housing, tickets, and entertainment of strangers might be more satisfactorily handled. In that case the city might reap a larger proportion of benefit from the presence of so many visitors.

The committee would also suggest that the auto trips for out of town guests were so successful that the desirability of making them a daily feature should be considered.

Memory ever fondly strays.
Beauteous nature loves all lands;
Beauty wanders everywhere
Footprints leaves on many strands,
But her home is surely there.
Angels fold their wings and rest
In that Eden of the west,
Beauty's home, Killarney;
Ever fair Killarney.Innsfallen's ruined shrine
May suggest a passing sigh,
But man's faith can ne'er decline
Such God's wonders floating by;

Still at Muckross you must pray.
Though the monks are now at rest,
Angels wonder not that man
There would fain prolong life's span,

Every morn springs natal day;
Bright hued berries daff the snows,
Smiling winter's frown away
Angels, often pausing there,
Doubt if Eden were more fair,
Beauty's home, Killarney;
Ever fair Killarney.Music there for echo dwells,
Makes each sound a harmony;
Many voiced the chorus swells
Till it faints in ecstasy.
With the charming tints below
Seems the heaven above to vie.

Wings of angels so might shine,
Glancing back soft light divine,

We do not reckon toughened

The force with which the anvil rings,
Nor care how hard the hammer swings.
The might in brawn, the strength in bone,
Can never serve success alone.
Think you 'twas Spartan steel and skill
That saved Greece from the Persian will?Think you Horatius won the day
And held the bridge through nimble play
Of sword? Or when all Europe lay Cringing beneath Napoleon's sway,
'Twas better guns and cannon balls
That swept the fields and crumbled walls?All that was splendid in every age
Was written by valor on history's page.
Glants in pygmy guise,
Prophecy with sightless eyes—
What matter slight or size
When men build to the skies?
What matter numbers, years,
If we disdain our fears?
